38. - 40. soruları aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Californian Nick Stoeberl can officially say that he has the longest tongue in the world, as his tongue is 10.13 centimetres long. He beat the former world record holder Stephen Taylor from the UK and entered the Guinness Book of World Records. Nick says that his tongue is useful for conventional activities such as licking lollipops, eating ice cream or getting pudding from the bottom of a cup. However, strangers find his tongue bizarre. He says that when he meets someone new, he is introduced as having the longest tongue in the world, so he feels like he has to stick it out at them. That leaves the strangers with a weird impression.

38. How does Nick feel about being introduced to new people as having the longest tongue in the world?

- A) He feels proud to be the world record holder.
- B) He feels silly because he sticks out his tongue to show people.
- C) He feels sad because people only remember his tongue.
- D) He feels happy because people will follow him on social media.
- E) He feels shy because people make fun of his long tongue.

39. Why does the author say that the strangers are left with a weird impression?

- A) To emphasize that the book is filled with boring records everybody has seen before.
- B) To draw attention to the book's title and the man in the passage.
- C) To express the interesting nature of Nick's record.
- D) To encourage people to compete in record breaking activities.
- E) To emphasize the importance of Nick's tongue in the book.

40. What can be inferred from the passage?

- A) There used to be someone else holding the longest tongue in the world record before.
- B) All of the world records in the Guinness Book of World Records are unusual.
- C) There is only one unusual world record in the Guinness Book of World Records.
- D) Nick has an average sized tongue and failed to make it into the Guinness Book of World Records.
- E) The Guinness Book of World Records is a book about Nick's achievements.
