29. - 31. soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Electronic commerce or in short e-commerce, refers to business activities like selling and purchasing of products and services carried out over the Internet. The history of e-commerce dates back to 1970, when for the first time, electronic data interchange (EDI) was introduced. Since then, a rapid growth of e-commerce has spread through almost every aspect of business such as Internet marketing. But like any conventional business, electronic commerce has also some advantages and drawbacks. One advantage is that it gives the customers the opportunity to look for cheaper and quality products. For business concerns, e-commerce significantly cuts down the cost associated with marketing. However, on the other hand, a large number of people do not still use the Internet for any kind of financial transaction due to trust issues. Another limitation of e-commerce is that it is not suitable for perishable commodities like food items. There are people who prefer to shop in the conventional way than to use e-commerce.

29. One can understand from the passage that e-commerce ----.

- A) refers only to the selling of perishable products through the Internet
- B) is favoured by fewer people than it was in the past
- C) ended with the introduction of electronic data interchange
- D) has had a big influence on business life since 1970
- E) is not preferable to conventional shopping though it has many advantages

30. The writer states in the passage that ----.

- A) electronic data interchange made people's lives more difficult
- B) some people still prefer the traditional way to buy food products
- C) e-commerce raises the expenses associated with marketing
- D) a large number of people handle monetary transaction on the Internet
- E) e-commerce has more drawbacks compared to the conventional business

31. Which of the following could be the best title for the passage?

- A) How to Promote Your Business Online
- B) The Online Shopping Madness
- C) Why Do People Still Fear from E-Commerce?
- D) E-commerce with Its Pros and Cons
- E) The History and Future of E-commerce

38. - 40. soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Feminist literature, as the name suggests, is based on the principles of feminism, and refers to any literary work that centers on the struggle of a woman for equality and to be accepted as a human being before being cast into a gender stereotype. Not all these works follow a direct approach towards this goal of equality. Not all feminist literature has been written by women, but also by men who understood women beyond the roles they were expected to fit into. Authors of feminist literature are known to understand and explain the difference between sex and gender. They believe that though a person's sex is predetermined and natural, it is the gender that has been created by society, along with a particular perception about gender roles. Gender roles, they believe, can be altered over time. Women in literature of the feminist nature are always featured as the protagonist who does not readily accept the traditional role of women as decided by society. They are ready to make their own decisions, to express this choice of personal decision-making, and are ready to deal with the consequences of these choices, actions, and decisions.

38. It is pointed out in the passage that authors of feminist literature ----.

- A) were able to succeed in changing women's role in the society through their works
- B) argue that there should be no man whose works are classified in feminist literature
- C) know very well that their opinions are totally ineffective
- D) are of the opinion that sex and gender differ from each other in some aspects
- E) believe their works may not contain any male characters inside

39. As we can conclude from the passage, ----.

- A) the popularity of feminist literature has reached to a certain extent only recently
- B) works of the feminist literature are not critically acclaimed by experts
- C) feminist authors don't agree with the way women are perceived in the society at all
- D) a work of feminist literature must reveal its real aim clearly in the text
- E) principles of feminism are too complicated to apply in a literary work

40. The writer indicates in the passage that ----.

- A) it is almost impossible to change it when society has a stereotypical approach about a concept
- B) women have managed to change their gender roles through literature in many countries
- C) feminist authors don't share the opinion that sex is predetermined and natural
- D) there will be no difference between sex and gender in near future as feminists argue
- E) the male writers having contributed to feminist literature were those who don't confine women to their conventional role

53. You can be assured that you could have been accepted by that college had you been able to present a few recommendation letters in your application file.

- A) It was your lack of responsibility not to put the recommendation letters in your application file, so you weren't able to apply for the scholarship of that college.
- B) The fact that you couldn't attach several letters of recommendation to your file was the reason why you were rejected by that college.
- C) You weren't able to submit any recommendation letter to the college, yet this has nothing to do with the fact that you were rejected by them.
- D) The reason lying behind your not having been accepted by that college was nothing but the inadequacy of your high school scores as expressed in your recommendation letters.
- E) You must have made a mistake in the arrangement of the forms in your application file, if it is true that you have been rejected by that college.

54. - 58. sorularda verilen durumda söylenmiş olabilecek sözü bulunuz.

54. A close friend of yours owns a restaurant and you would like to organize your mother's birthday party there. When you call him to talk about it, he says it is not possible as there is a previously engaged special dinner in his restaurant on the date you are asking for. Feeling disappointed, you ask for some advice as to how to find somewhere else: ----

- A) You know how much my mum loves your place, so it was important for me to arrange the party there.
- B) I thought you could have helped me, but I have to find another place now.
- C) Excuse me but I really can't ask for a cancellation as they booked that date 3 months ago.
- D) If not possible, then maybe you can come up with another place in which we can arrange the party.
- E) Thanks for your help. I will assess your offer and call you back.

55. Your dad is about to buy a new car. He shows the pictures and technical properties of the car on the website and asks for your opinion. You think this car may not be worth paying the price that your father mentions, as you know a number of better models whose prices are far lower than this. To make an offer about that, you say: ----

- A) Buying a cheap one may not be the best decision every time so you had better think about it once again.
- B) There is no obvious drawback about this car, but I think you should also check some other models, the prices of which are more reasonable.
- C) One should be sure about the properties of the engine and transmission before buying a car.
- D) Why didn't you like the one I offered you a week ago? It was much better than this one despite the price.
- E) This car doesn't look fuel efficient. Look at the fuel consumption rate for each 100 km.

56. As a 12th grade student, you have an assignment in which you are supposed to write an essay about drug addiction. A few days before the deadline, a classmate of yours asks if you have completed it. As you have already done it, you tell her what kind of arguments you have used in the essay in detail. When the deadline comes up, you recognize that the friend you told about your essay used your arguments in her essay in the way you described them. Knowing that this is an obvious plagiarism, you want to let your teacher know it, so you say: ----

- A) How dare you! How could you use my arguments instead of thinking and creating something of your own?
- B) She may have liked your viewpoint but she ought to have asked your permission first before using it as if they belonged to her.
- C) I can't believe she has done it, yet my friend seems to have replicated my views in her essay which I myself told her.
- D) The teacher will not believe that these are your views as he already read my essay. So you had better not submit this one.
- E) You can't blame me for plagiarism as I didn't use your views literally. I was just inspired by them.

57. You and your sister have a common off-day and you agree on spending that day together. Your sister insists on going to seaside spots, but you disagree knowing that the weather will be rainy during the day. Not willing to change her mind, she is determined to convince you so she says: ----

- A) We can find a nice place in which we will not be disturbed by the rain, so please rest assured that you will enjoy the day.
- B) Then we can meet at about 5 pm after you leave the office. I will be waiting you at the seaside.
- C) How many more times do I have to remind you that I don't like such kind of places?
- D) I want to go to the seaside and I will, so please let me make my own plans.
- E) There's no point in talking as you are not even listening to me while I take your words very seriously.

58. Upon learning that the results of the final exam of History has been announced, you go to check the notice board of the department in a rush and you see that your score is 35, which means you fail even though you have never expected such a score. As you need an explanation, you stop by the room of the professor, knock the door and enter to ask why you have taken such a low score. After listening to you, the professor gives you some advice and says: ----

- A) Your score is higher than that as far as I remember. There must be a mistake if I'm not wrong.
- B) If you can assess my exam sheet once again, I can wait for it for a couple of days.
- C) A student doesn't have the right to ask such a question in this manner, so you are supposed to leave the room immediately.
- D) I appreciate your concerns, but you should know that you have taken that score due to your own mistakes, hence you should study harder for the make-up exams.
- E) There is no point in objecting to my assessment and decision. A student may take lower scores; it's just an exam in your long education career.
